

A KIND VOICE

There's a message coming through as simple as the wind
It's carried in the heart, and passed with open hands
You can read it in the lines on someone's face when they smile
You can hear it when a mother sings her child a lullaby

It's up to you to pass it on
It really is your choice
A chorus cannot grow
Until you add your voice

So when you meet a stranger on the road, greet him as a friend
If his load is heavy, lend a helping hand
If you've got something good to say, speak up loud and clear
So all the world can hear
A kind voice

The seeds of kindness are the only ones to sow
But you've got to tend that crop if you want to see it grow
The fields are calling, they're waiting in the sun
No time for beating ploughshares when there's tilling to be done

So when you meet a stranger on the road, greet him as a friend
If his load is heavy, lend a helping hand
If you've got something good to say, speak up loud and clear
So all the world can hear
A kind voice
